

Your Website

Before AI ever recommends a business, it looks at the website. If the site does not give clear answers about what you do, who you are and how to reach you, AI quietly moves on to the next option. We review your site from top to bottom and fix what is holding you back.

What AI checks first:

- Can AI even read your site? Most websites in Dubai accidentally block AI from seeing them. We make sure ChatGPT, Gemini and Perplexity have full access.
- Does your site introduce itself clearly? We add a short, plain-language summary that tells AI exactly who you are, what you offer and why you should be recommended.

The pages that decide whether you get picked:

- About Us: a real story about your team, history and location, not generic copy
- Contact: complete, up to date and consistent
- FAQ: written the way your customers actually ask, not the way you describe your service internally

The basics that quietly cost you customers:

- Clear page descriptions: every page should make it obvious in one line what it is about
- Mobile speed: if your site is slow on a phone, AI assumes the experience is poor and recommends someone else

Why it matters: Before buying, people increasingly ask ChatGPT or Gemini to validate a business. If AI says nothing about you, or says the wrong thing, the customer is gone and you never even knew they were interested.

Your website alone is not enough. Before recommending a business, AI checks whether it appears, consistently and credibly, across the platforms people trust. We review every relevant platform, claim and clean up what already exists, and build what is missing.

The presence every business needs:

- Google profile: so you show up in Maps and local searches
- Bing profile: the search engine ChatGPT relies on the most. Without it, you are invisible to a huge share of AI answers.
- Microsoft Maps and Copilot: visibility inside the Microsoft ecosystem, used daily by millions of professionals
- LinkedIn company page: confirms to AI that your company is real, active and serious
- Global business databases: the behind-the-scenes records AI uses to verify that a business actually exists
- Local and category directories: Yelp, YellowPages UAE, Dubizzle and similar, so you are firmly connected to your industry and city
- Consistent details everywhere: the same business name, address and phone across every platform. Any mismatch makes AI doubt you.

If your business qualifies:

- Tripadvisor: a key reference for AI when recommending restaurants, clinics and hospitality
- Wikipedia: we review your history, reputation and market presence. If you qualify, we build the page. It is one of the sources AI trusts the most.

A Wikipedia page is more than a credential. It changes the way AI describes your business to every single person who asks about you.

Appear in Top Industry Blogs

When someone asks AI for the best businesses in a category, AI tends to repeat what trusted blogs and articles already say. If those articles do not mention you, you simply do not exist in the answer.

What we do:

- Identify the most influential blogs and publications in your industry and city
- Work to get your business featured in lists like "Top 10 [businesses] in Dubai"
- Cover different angles, by neighbourhood, by category and by type of customer, so you appear in many of the searches your buyers actually run
- Turn those mentions into AI recommendations that bring qualified customers directly to you

What this depends on:

- A solid reputation, with real customers and strong reviews
- The previous two areas, website and online presence, already in good shape
- A service that genuinely delivers, so the recommendation holds up

The businesses on these lists are the ones AI recommends by name. That is the difference between appearing somewhere in an answer and being the answer.

AI is changing every week. A business that stops working on its visibility quickly falls behind the ones that do not. Each month we run the same searches across ChatGPT, Gemini and Perplexity, track exactly where you stand and act on what we find.

What happens every month:

- The same searches are repeated, so you can see clearly how you moved compared to last month
- Your information is kept up to date as your business evolves: new services, new hours, new questions from customers
- We monitor competitors, see who is appearing above you, and work to close the gap
- You receive a clear monthly report with screenshots, comparisons and the plan for the next month

The business that keeps showing up is the one AI ends up trusting most. AI visibility builds up over time, the earlier you start, the harder you are to replace.
